Rhodope mountain defiles, on the Greek frontier. Serbia's military position is critical

Hammered by superior forces on two sides, her armies are threatened with being crushed as no army has been crushed during the war.

Not only are these facts admitted in England, France and Russia, but they are reflected in official Serbian statements. The key to escape from this situation is the speed with which France and England can throw forces north from Salonica, in the hope of relieving pressure from the Austrians and Germans in the north and the Bulgarians in the east.

STAND AGAINST INVADERS

Seldom Surrender Even in Hand Hand Encounters, Says Observer of Fighting.

AMSTERDAM (via London), Oct 22.- A representative of the Loka Anzeiger at the Serbian front telegraphs that the desperate resistance of the Serbians is responsible for the relatively small number of prisoners taken by the Austrians and Germans. "Serbian troops rarely surrender even in hand to hand encounters," the correspondent says. "They fight until the last possible moment. Thus there are enacted in these battles horrible scenes of the wildest fight-ing, unparalelled on any other front."
